New Language Learner Keynote Addresses

Each year, the conference organizers track down and identify 4 new language speakers throughout our language communities. We do this to honor their commitment to the language and to share the fact that learning language is fun and currently happening. The keynotes will provide their individual stories that talks about their own language path.

Tentative Workshop Presentations

Selected presenters will offer a 90-minute workshop (twice) on a topic of their choice during the conference. Workshop presentations will include topics such as: Classroom Teaching Techniques, Language Technology, Classroom Activities, Use of Songs/Arts, Curriculum Development, Story-telling, Active Language Projects, and everything in between.

Preference will be given to proposals from teachers/people that are actively teaching in their communities. The specific workshops selected will be provided in the final conference packet that you will receive as you arrive. It can also be found on the conference webpage listed below.

Youth Track Leadership Workshop

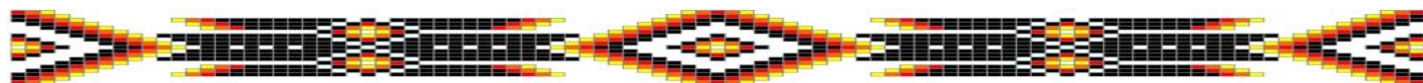

The Celebrating Salish-Youth Leadership Workshop is designed youth in grades 7th -12th . This workshop is designed to engage and motivate our tribal youth to learn, practice and teach their respective languages. The workshop will include special keynote speakers that will address healthy cultural practices within tribal communities. Stories of wisdom, hardship and success from tribal elders. And finally creating a field guide that will include notes, baby steps, and goals for culture and language preservation. Youth track organizers and special guests will incorporate team building, games, and hands-on activities throughout the duration of the workshops.

Youth will give a final presentation showcasing their field guides to peers, Elders and adults. The Youth Track Organizers request each visiting youth group provide a designated chaperone to be present with their students during the youth sessions.
